The New Castle County Department of Elections and JPMorgan Chase & Co. team up to register voters

Wilmington, DE, July 22, 2010--The New Castle County Department of Elections partnered with JPMorgan Chase & Co. (JPMC) in a successful effort to assist Delaware and Pennsylvania residents in registering to vote, this past week. The events took place at Chase Card Services' headquarters building in Wilmington and at the JPMC White Clay Center in Newark.

The Department of Elections' is always looking for new and innovative ways to reach out to citizens as it meets its key objectives of registering people to vote, conducting fair and impartial elections and educating voters. Events such as these with JPMorgan Chase are an important part of that effort.

"We were happy to host these events because we know that voting is an important privilege and responsibility," said Paul Hartwick, director of Communication and Public Affairs for Chase Card Services. "At JPMorgan Chase, we encourage our employees to get involved in the community, and voting is an important part of taking an active community role."

Employees from the Department of Elections, led by Deputy Director Howard G. Sholl, Jr., processed, updated, and verified voter registrations. Sholl was pleased by the turnout.

"It is important that citizens are registered to vote and informed about the issues and candidates, especially in an election year," he said. "Thanks to JPMorgan Chase for setting up and hosting these events which are very helpful to us," Sholl continued, noting that the department signed up volunteers to work the polls on Election Day as well.

August 21st is the deadline to register for Delaware's September 14th primary. For more information on how to register, to update your registration, or to find out if you are properly registered please go to the New Castle County's Department of Elections at <http://electionsncc.delaware.gov/>.
